RENOMINATION A QUESTION AGAIN

MOST OF THE OFFICE HOLDERS WOULD LIKE ANOTHER TERM.

DAVIDSON WAITS CALL

Governor is Listening to Advice From Friends Throughout the State
That He Become a Candidate.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—An epidemic of "third-termitis" has spread over the capitol, having attacked all save one of the present elective state officers. The governor's infection is mild and is due to persistent exposure in the form of urgings of friends. Secretary of State Froese has not yet admitted publicly that he is afflicted, but the symptoms are unmistakable. State Treasurer A. H. Dahl has the disease in a well developed form and is no longer inoculated with the germ of gubernatorial desire. Insurance Commissioner George E. Hoedle is sorely stricken with this painful hold-on-for-ever disease so much so that he recently fell out with his deputy, H. L. Ekerdt, and practically fired that youth from the department. Frank L. Whitte, attorney general, is willing to step out with his two terms, but will not return from politics, for he will engage Congressman John M. Nelson in a fight for the second district congressional seat.

Governor Davidson asserts that he wants to go back to his private business and do something for himself but he is daily urged to stand for another nomination, particularly in view of the trouble brewing in the La Follette camp.

REV. JOHN G. MURRAY CONSECRATED BISHOP

Baltimore Divine Made Assistant To Bishop Parrot With Impressive Ceremonies Today.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—With imposing ceremonies Rev. Dr. John G. Murray, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. Michael and All Angels in this city, was consecrated as coadjutor bishop of the diocese of Maryland today by Bishop Parrot, whose assistant he becomes. Bishop Parrot was assisted in the ceremonies by Bishop Kneuman of Delaware and Bishop Harding of Washington. The present bishops were Burlington of Harrisburg and McCormick of western Michigan. Bishop Nelson of Atlanta preached the sermon. The ceremony took place in the church of St. Michael and All Angels, which was elaborately decorated for the occasion.

The new bishop is fifty-two years old and a native of Maryland. He received his theological education at Drew Theological Seminary, from which institution he withdrew to enter upon a business career upon the death of his father. Following a business career in Kansas, New Mexico and later in Alabama, he retired in 1893. It was a year later that he was ordained to the priesthood, and was assigned to service on the Alabama river missions. After serving eight different congregations, he was at last called to the Advent church, Birmingham, where he served seven years. From Birmingham he came to St. Michael and All Angels in this city.

GOVERNMENT LOSES THE POINTS RAISED

Court Refuses to Allow a Recontenance of the Alleged Libel Cases.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 29.—Judge Anderson of the United States district court today refused to grant the plea of the government for re-contenance of the hearing of Delavan Smith and Charles R. Williams, proprietors of the Indianapolis News, who are charged with criminal libel in having published articles alleged to intimate that there was corruption in the sale of the Panama Canal Zone to the United States.

MUSIC LOVERS MEET IN WORCESTER, MASS.

Annual Three Days' Harmonic Festival of New England Opened Today With Fine Program.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 29.—The thirty-second annual music festival, opening tonight and continuing three days, has attracted to Worcester scores of music lovers from all over New England. The program prepared for the five concerts is one of rare excellence. The list of soloists includes Mrs. Corinne Hild-Kolay and Miss Laura Conna, sopranos; Miss Jeanne Gertrude-Rosen, mezzo-soprano; Miss Margaret Keyser, contralto; Ross Miller and George Harris, Jr., tenors; Oscar Svanbo and Frederick Wolf, baritone; Miss Tina Lerner, pianist; and Emil Forst, viola soloist. In addition there is a chorus of 400 voices and the Boston Symphony Orchestra of sixty pieces.

SECURES A REFUND BY THE DECISION

Assemblyman L. C. Whitte of Edgerton Gains Point He Contended For.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—Assemblyman L. C. Whitte of Edgerton was awarded a refund of $22.03 by the railroad commission today against the North-Western and Milwaukee roads. The controversy arose over the shipments of lumber from Echo, Wis., and although the amount involved was small, Mr. Whitte pressed the matter because the railroad officials agreed to a stoppage in transit privilege and then charged unreasonably for it.

NEW LORD MAYOR OF LONDON IS ELECTED

Sir John C. Knill Elected To Office With Formal and Time-Honored Ceremony.

London, Sept. 29.—Having been an alderman of the city of London for twelve years, and filled the office of sheriff for one term, Sir John C. Knill was today elected Lord Mayor. The election was accompanied by all of the time-honored ceremony, which is almost as interesting and picturesque in its way as the gorgeous pageant with which the new chief magistrate will be inducted into office on the 9th of November. The new Lord Mayor is fifty-three years old and was created a baronet in 1893. He is the head of a large mercantile establishment and the possessor of a large fortune.

FUR THIEVES MADE HAUL IN MILWAUKEE

Broke Window with Brick and Then Grabbed Everything In Sight.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—Furs valued at about $1,000 were stolen from the show windows of the Lohr Bros. store, 117 Wisconsin street, at an early hour this morning. The thief or thieves broke the front window by hurling a brick through it. They then gathered up all the material in sight and disappeared.

SMALL BOY INJURED BY SHOT FROM GUN

Hit in Eye With Bullet From Air-Gun—Taken to Milwaukee.

Manitowish, Wis., Sept. 29.—Henry Vitis, Jr., aged 12, lost an eye yesterday as the result of an accident when he was struck in the eye by a shot from an air-gun fired by a companion of his own age. The pupil of the right eye was shattered and physicians say the eye cannot be saved though the boy was rushed to a specialist at Milwaukee at once. Young Vitis is the third young boy to be crippled for life in an accident in the city within a month. Howard Whitney, an arm and Vitis his eye, two of the accidents resulting from guns in the hands of boys.

Declaring that the move is forced by the necessity for reducing operating expenses since the city has joined an advance of rates, the Manitowish and Northern Traction Co. has announced that after Oct. 1 it will curtail its interurban service by cutting off one car and running cars on an hourly schedule instead of every 15 minutes as now. The company will operate only a part of the way to the downtown district, transferring its passengers to the city cars. Offices and waiting rooms will be established in the Pritchard-Kaplan block which is being remodelled for the company. Many people are in the move of the company a retaliatory measure against the city for enjoining the increase of fare.

Plans have been accepted by the Sisters of St. Francis for a large addition to Silver Lake convent, the home of the order here, and work will be rushed. W. J. Reynolds, a Green Bay contractor, supplies the plans which are for a structure 67 by 110 feet, four stories and basement, erected of brick. The Holy Family hospital, in charge of the Sisters, yesterday passed its tenth anniversary in that vicinity by declaring that it has discovered gold in a well which has been sunk on his farm. Samples of the ore have been tested by local jewelers and are said to have shown up well and Vodeler has now asked the university station to make a test also. A stock company will be formed to develop the find in event that it proves worth while.

MUCH INTEREST IN A RATE CASE

COMMERCE COMMISSION TO CONTINUE HEARING AT SPOKANE

COMPLAINTS ARE GENERAL

Decision Rendered in February Causes Dissatisfaction Among Cities Not Benefited By It.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 29.—Interest in the Spokane rate case was revived today by the arrival of Commissioner Prouty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take further testimony in the much-discussed case. The case has been pending before the commission since 1907, when the business interests of this city asked the commission to revise the rates on shipments from the East. The chief question at issue is whether through rates from the East to such cities as Spokane, Reno, Salt Lake City and like interior cities of the far Western region should not be lower than the rates to the coast cities. It is the long and short haul question over again, with some modifications. The Pacific coast cities hold they are entitled to the benefits of water competition.

In February last the Interstate Commerce Commission rendered a decision, which was to become operative, except as modified, in May, and which made the class rates from St. Paul to Spokane equal to five-sixths of the existing rate from St. Paul to Seattle; fixed the class rates from Chicago to Spokane at the equivalent of those then in force between St. Paul and Seattle, and established new commodity rates upon more than thirty specified articles, between Chicago and Spokane, by adding 16 2/3 per cent to the rates charged on shipments from St. Paul to Spokane.

The decision of the commission was fairly satisfactory as far as it went. But Spokane has about one thousand five hundred other commodities on which it wants reductions, and Reno, Billings, Salt Lake City and other interior points have similar grievances that they want rectified. Still another interesting phase of the case is the complaint that comes from the East that the interests of that section have been overlooked in the new basis of tariff submitted by the Western lines. The claim is made that in the process of reducing the discrimination against Spokane and other Western points at New England and other sections of the East will be discriminated against. In other words, freight rates from Chicago and St. Paul to the West are to be lowered, without any proportionate reduction in the East. Rates from New England to Spokane will be fixed by adding to Chicago rates the local from the point of shipment to Chicago, thus discounting the many blanket rates at present in effect. In order to protect their interests in the matter the commercial organizations of New England have sent a representative to be present at the hearing before Commissioner Prouty.

ON A QUIET SEARCH FOR RUNAWAY GIRLS

Police Department is Making Inquiry in Deloit and Rockford for Miss Albrecht and Helen Griffin. Last Sunday evening the sixteen-year-old daughter of Charles Albrecht and a companion of the same age, named Helen Griffin, ran away from their homes in this city and are believed to have gone from thence to Deloit and Rockford. A young fellow who had been keeping company with the Albrecht girl was requested to look for her in Deloit but failed to discover her whereabouts. Inquiry is now being made in Rockford.

FORMER JANESVILLE CITIZEN NEAR DEATH

T. C. Slagg of Cambridge Stricken With Paralysis And Is Very Low.

Word received by friends in this city states that T. C. Slagg, of Cambridge, Wis., suffered a stroke of paralysis on Monday. Mr. Slagg has been in poor health for some time. He is well known in this city, at one time being a member of the firm of Slagg & Potter, dry goods merchants on West Milwaukee street. Many of the old soldiers are acquainted with him, as he was a captain in the Third Wisconsin regiment during the Civil war.

DOG-POISONER IS BUSY ONCE MORE

Half a Dozen Canines Belonging to Parties Residing on Lincoln Street Have Died This Week.

The dog-poisoner has again commenced his contemptible warfare on harmless dumb beasts. Canines belonging to W. C. Kober, Mrs. Diantha Roof, and other Lincoln street residents have met with sudden and terrible deaths since Sunday evening and one belonging to William E. Spicer succumbed this noon. The poison is being mixed with meat and placed in the way of the poor victims. Very strong suspicions as to the identity of the party who is carrying on this notorious practice are entertained and arrest and prosecution may be expected within the near future.

FINE SPECIMENS OF WHEAT FROM COAST

Dr. Hart Brings Back Samples of Grain from West—Big Corn Grown by John Stokes.

Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Hart have returned from a three weeks' trip spent on the Pacific coast. Dr. Hart has some remarkably fine specimens of wheat grown in the west, which he secured on his trip. One of these is of the seven-headed wheat, grown in the Big Lost River country in Idaho. The grain was raised on land on an elevation six thousand feet above sea level. Three quarters of an acre was grown this year, the seed being secured from a quart of seed planted a year ago. He also has a fine sample of the California Club wheat.

John Stokes, who lives on a farm in the town of La Prairie, has raised this year thirty-two acres of early Minnesota corn. The ears are all large and particularly well developed.

MEMORIAL SERVICES ON OCTOBER FOURTH

Members of the Rock, Jefferson and Green County Bars Will Unite in Honoring Memory of Late Judge Dunwiddie.

Memorial services for the late Judge R. F. Dunwiddie will be held at the opening of the October term of the circuit court, shortly after two o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, October 4th, next. Members of the bar from Green and Jefferson counties will attend and Judge Winslow of the supreme court, who was a classmate of Judge Dunwiddie, has sent word that he will be present.

Judge Graham will open court at two o'clock and will call the calendar. The memorial services will then take place and at their conclusion, court will be adjourned to some future day.

OBITUARY.

La Quinto residence which President Taft will occupy during his sojourn. At upper right, W. T. George, manager of the Taft packing plant. Lower left C. A. Williams, manager of Taft farm department. At right, Joseph F. Green, manager of the Taft ranch.

Facts About Charles P. Taft's Texas Ranch.

Includes 255,000 acres. Two prosperous towns, Gregory and Taft. Has its own meat packing plant, cottonseed mill, ice plant, cotton gin. President Taft will spend four days here.

Gregory, Texas.—The magnificent country home of Charles P. Taft on his Texas ranch is situated three miles from Gregory. It is in this beautiful residence, called La Quinto, or the villa, that President Taft and other distinguished members of his party will make their home during their stay upon the ranch. The house faces on Corpus Christi bay and is connected with Gregory by a straight and broad shell road. It is expected that the president will do a large amount of horseback riding during his stay at their ranch and he will be well provided with mounts. Two automobiles will also be at his service. The main ranch embraces 125,000 acres in a solid body and good roads lead to every part of it. It is divided into a number of pastures, ranging from 25,000 to 50,000 acres in size. Mr. Green, who has charge of the ranch arrangements for the president's visit, has planned that the distinguished visitor shall be shown as much of the big property as possible during his stay. The thriving little town of Taft is one of the places he will visit. It is situated seven miles from Gregory and is a part of the ranch property. It has a population of about six hundred people and is only a few years old. It cast a solid vote for Taft for president. It is at the town of Taft that the great industrial enterprises of the ranch are being established. The plans now being carried out there include the erection of a large meat-packing plant, a cottonseed oil mill, an ice plant and an additional cotton gin. These concerns will represent an investment of about $300,000 when completed. Most of their stay upon the ranch. The house is in operation by the first of next year.

Hundreds of New Fall Models in Tailored Suits

The scope of our display of autumn suits takes in everything that fashion regards with favor, and in each style you will find that difference in fabric, trimming and treatment that gives to our garments a bit of exclusiveness which marks them as different from the ordinary.

All the favored fabrics represented, such as the English diagonals, wide wale worsteds, Donegal homespuns, serges and a particularly large assortment in chiffon broadcloth, in styles specially favored for fall, await your critical inspection.

There is increasing favor for plain tailored styles, varied length coats; some are featured with the simple trimming effects in the form of braid trimming on collars and cuffs; others have collars of velvet. The new military and Russian style of rough weave fabrics are well represented here.

Tailored Suits at $20

You will be specially interested in the suits at $20.00. An unusually large assortment of the newest features in tailored suits of chiffon broadcloth and rough weave fabrics, all shades in the lot. See our one-piece dresses at $12.50.

A Congratulation Over the Phone.
Only yesterday I extracted seven teeth for a lady, and her husband just rang me up on the phone to say that "She spoke very highly of the way I did the work." She had been to a great many dentists but I was the most painless of any she had ever had.

So it goes every day.

I cannot talk personally with everybody I would like to reach in a business way in this world.

Physical ability is unequal to such a task.

But I can speak in a limited way to you through these columns.

I am not talking simply to say something.

I have something to say.

It is this: "I am able to do Painless Dental Work."

This ought to interest every man, woman and child.

Its attainment has been the desire of every progressive dentist, for decades.

Law of the Household.
Would we codify the laws that should reign in households, and whose daily transgression annoys and mortifies us, and degrades our household life—we must learn to adorn every day with sacrifices. Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices. Temperance, courage, love, are made up of the same jewels. Listen to every prompting of honor.—R. W. Emerson.

OFFICER CHAMPION IN A HOT PURSUIT

Captured James Sullivan, a Mute "Drunk" Who Made Break for Liberty This Morning.

An Officer Peter Champion was escorting a trio of "drunks," bound for the county jail, from the municipal court room this morning. James Sullivan, a deaf and dumb man, suddenly darted through the front door of the city hall and ran like a streak up North Jackson street. He was just turning into a yard a couple of blocks away when the surprised officer checked the other two prisoners back into the basement lockup and started, bareheaded, in pursuit. The trail through backyards was a live one lined with frightened women giving voice to such exclamations as "Heavens, what's that?" But the officer was too busy vaulting fences to answer. Sullivan crossed West Bluff and Franklin streets, followed the racehorses for a ways, and disappeared near the electric power plant. No one had seen him enter the building but inasmuch as no more eyes were in the neighborhood, he was not followed. The pursuer decided to stop right there, the building which extends over the river he found Sullivan crouching down behind a dynamo. Scrambling and weeping like a two-year-old, the "dummy" was dragged back to the station.

It appears that Officer Champion, earlier in the morning, had written the mute a note upbraiding him for chalking his adopted sister and getting in a boisterous condition and assuring him that he would be hung higher than Haman at sunset. The dummy indulged in some noisy lamentations after reading the message but, until he made his break for liberty, no one dreamed that he was moved by fear of getting anything more than just what was coming to him.

Judge Lange had levied a fine of $5 and costs for drunkenness, with an alternative of five days in the county jail, and Sullivan was forced to take the alternative. James Clark and Tom Brady, who have been working with the C. & N. W. gang at Levee, were each fined $2 and costs with the alternative of five days in the jail and Brady, who had sufficient money on his person to pay the fine, did not decide to come to the front until he heard the sheriff directing the turnkey to put him in the bread and water section. Charles McDonald paid a fine of $2 and costs. Charles Kincaid was given one hour to leave the city.

TELEPHONE COMPANY ELECTED DIRECTORS

Meeting Held Last Evening Named Three New Members of the Directorate of Company.

Owing to the fact that several of the stockholders have sold their interest in the Rock County Telephone company and that three directors' offices became vacant from this cause, a special meeting of the stockholders was held last evening to fill the vacancies. (June Connors, Richard Valentine and Dr. F. B. Farnsworth were the three named and with H. D. Murdoch and J. L. Hostwick met at some future date to elect a President and secretary, both these offices being vacant by the sale of Dr. Farnsworth's stock, the president and of Francis Grant's stock, he being secretary.

PRESIDENT TAFT TICKLES THE WEST

WILL ASK $10,000,000 TO COM-PLETE IRRIGATION PRO-JECTS.

CHEER DECLARATION WILDLY

Has Been Hope of Settlers in Arid Regions for Years — President Praises Work of Both Pinchot and Ballinger.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 29.—President Taft delivered here his long anticipated speech on the conservation of natural resources and outlined the policy of his administration on this subject of supreme importance to all the west. He created much enthusiasm when he announced that he would urge upon congress the necessity of authorizing the secretary of the interior to issue $10,000,000 bonds for the completion of irrigation projects in the west upon which work has been suspended because of lack of funds,
and the discovery that the projects,
in their enthusiasm did not closely observe the limitations of the reclamation act.

The president declared that many newspapers had drawn unfair information as to the attitude of his administration on the general conservation of natural resources.

To Follow Roosevelt.
"The truth is," he said, "my administration is pledged to follow out the policy of Mr. Roosevelt in this regard, and while that pledge does not involve me in any obligation to carry them out unless I have congressional authority to do so, it does require that I take every step to exert every legiti-mate influence upon congress to enact the legislation which shall best subserve the purpose indicated."

The president declared that Secretary of the Interior Ballinger is in accord with him as to the necessity for promoting in every legitimate way
the conservation of natural resources.

The president also has praise for Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot and refers to his "wonderful work for the conservation of the forests, supported by Mr. Roosevelt."

Control Water Power Sites.

President Taft declared on his way

ter power sites that throughout his administration the government to allot these sites to private interests for development, the government retaining general control and supervision.

He declared, also, that he would urge upon congress the necessity of an authoritative classification of public lands to prevent difficulties of the past, such as the setting aside of coal and mineral lands as agricultural lands, and vice versa.

"The natural forests, as reserved
by executive order, contain about 167, 000,000 acres of land in the United States proper. All of this land is now under the direct control of the forestry bureau and is being preserved from fire and from other destruction and is being treated in accordance with the best modern methods of treating forests under the supervision of Mr. Pinchot, the chief forester, and the head of the bureau of forestry in the department of agriculture.

Praise Pinchot.
"I don't stop to discuss at length the forestry question. The wonderful progress made by Mr. Pinchot, with the earnest support of Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Wilson, at times has met the denunciation of persons in this western country on the ground that property was being taken which congress intended for individuals, and was being withheld from them."

"But I think general opposition to Mr. Pinchot's plans has disappeared and that the great body of the American people recognizes the benefit of the reform in reference to forestry, and greatly regret that it was not begun years before."

"The plan of the government to reclaim the arid and semi-arid lands, manifested in the reclamation act, has been carried out most rapidly by the bureau charged with its execution."

"There are some 30 projects which have been entered upon by the reclamation bureau, and I believe that all of them are to be commended for their excellent adaptation of the purpose for which they were erected, and for the speed with which the work has been done."

As Advertised.
He (Taft) said, and much the worse for drink.—Are you the young woman to whom life would be a burden without the companionship of a man of noble character and imposing presence?—Margaret Blodgett.

Will Cross Boundary Lines.
Meeting of Presidents Taft and Diaz
to Be Strictly International.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 29.—The official program for the meeting of Presidents
Taft and Diaz at El Paso and Juarez was made known by the war department in a communication to the local committee. Its tone shows the tendency of the two governments to make the affair strictly international, and practically all the arrangements were in the hands of the secretary of war.

The program consists of two visits by Mr. Taft to Mexico and one visit by Mr. Diaz to the United States.
No troops of either country will cross the boundary, nor will flags of either nation be carried across the line.

In the morning President Diaz will cross the boundary where he will be received by the secretary of war and accompanying President Taft's carriage. The governor of Texas and his staff will accompany the secretary.

President Diaz will be in uniform and Taft in a dress suit. The party will be driven to the Chamber of Commerce in El Paso, where the two presidents will confer in private.

The Mexican president will then return to his side of the river under American military escort.

At noon President Taft will cross the river and the program of the morning will be practically repeated.
He then will return to the American side under Mexican escort.

In the evening at five o'clock President Taft will go to Juarez, where he will be banqueted.

FINISHING ROOM.

This illustration shows the steam finishing cylinder, size 7 ft. by 3 ft. in diameter, upon which we finish all dress goods, silks, shop worn goods, etc. The cylinder is heated by hot water heat, so that there is no possibility of scorching the fabrics. Upon this large cylinder we dry and stretch linen curtains, giving them that even appearance as when new. This method of being far superior to stretching and drying curtains upon the "peg stretchers," as curtains are not scolded. Linens are stretched and dried on this water-heated cylinder, giving them a perfect finish and doing the work much better than ironing them smooth, as it brings out the fullness of the material rather than flattening it as an iron would do.

The steaming board is also shown upon which curtains are placed after it has been cleaned. Live steam being forced through the fabric to bring out the fullness of the weave and to put a new finish on the goods, at the same time sterilizing it.

DYEING ROOM.

This department is fitted with washing machines, a steam boiler, dyeing kettles, centrifugal machines for drying the clothes, etc. All dyes are heated by steam, made of the very best dye stuffs obtainable and are mixed so as to produce any desired shade. We dye to sample and colors are guaranteed to be absolutely fast, to keep their brilliancy and not to crack.

The mixing of dyes is probably a more scientific study than most people think it is. Many of the smaller dye houses throughout the country use nothing but black dyes and cannot dye goods to match samples. 30 years' experience in work of dye goods to match samples. 30 years' experience in work of dye goods to match samples. 30 years' experience in work of dye goods to match samples.

DRY CLEANING ROOM.

This illustration shows the centrifugal machines used for extracting the dirts from the garments. This is the modern way of wringing out clothes, without "wringing" them. The goods are placed in this round bowl-like device and the power is turned on, making it revolve very rapidly, as high as 5,000 revolutions a minute. This great centrifugal force extracts all moisture from the fabrics, yet no pressure has been brought to bear on them. The dry cleaning machine is also shown. In this machine is placed liquid gas, such as naphtha, benzine and gasoline, which is best adapted to clean the article and is made to revolve slowly, the purpose of rubbing. It is surprising to find the amount of dirt and grease that this process removes.

CARPET DYE- ING.

This branch of the business is given especial attention. Special

FEATHER RENOVATING.

There has been so much fraud perpetrated upon the public by traveling feather renovators that this department of our business will be a boon to the housewife who desires reliable work of this nature. A special machine has been installed for the renovating of feathers. It is a large revolving cylinder into which the feathers are placed and live steam is forced into it, which the feathers are placed and live steam is forced into it, which the feathers are placed and live steam is forced into it.

CLEANING OF KID GLOVES.

The most modern methods are employed. The dry cleaning method usually being the best. All gloves are cleaned and stretched into shape on specially built frames, which gives them the same shape they had when new, not shaped to the hand as when they come to us. We secure excellent results in this branch of the work.

DISPLAY AND ORDER ROOM.

The display and order room shown here gives some idea of the way the goods are kept after the work is completed. Fine gowns, waists, etc., are not left where dust or dirt may reach them, but are kept in glass cases and not handled until ready for delivery.

AUTOMOBILES

THE FARMER AND HIS MOTOR CAR

Why He Buys One and What He Gets Out of It.

A new buyer has entered the automobile field, the well-to-do farmer. When he comes to town on Saturday he looks longingly at the shiny motor cars lined up in the dealer's garage and finally edges around to the man in a leather cap with: "What do they cost?" Then he does some figuring. "Let's see, eleven hundred dollars, ten hundred and twenty-three dollars, enough to buy one—and I raised it on thirty-seven acres. Or, eleven hundred of stores at thirty dollars—and I have fifty of them ready for market. Why not use some of my property and have a little enjoyment in this world?"

An agent went out to a farm in Eastern Nebraska last fall with a moderate priced touring car.

"It will give you a great deal of pleasure," he opened his talk.

"Yes, but I am not rich—I can't afford an automobile for pleasure."

"If I can show you that it will save you money, will you buy?" The bargain was struck.

"How often do you go to town?"

"About twice a week."

"Twelve miles, isn't it? You spend nearly four hours on the trip; that is four hundred hours, or forty days a year, just going to town. Finally, each trip breaks up a full half-day, and your time is worth at least four dollars a day. That is two hundred dollars a year. Then two horses are taken from work, and you have a fifty dollar expense in buggy and harness repairs annually. With a car you can save three-fourths of the time and both the horses, its expense will not be more than that of the team, and you can carry five persons, instead of one or two. In four years you have paid for the car and have enjoyed much pleasure besides." The farmer is now driving a car.

The day when automobiles were shipped by two and three to small towns in the agricultural States is past—they go now in train loads. Many of these interior towns have been unable to secure cars fast enough for delivery.

Marketing and Motoring.

The dealer, however, must be prepared to answer many questions and to suit many tastes. Not the same desire animates the farmer, motorist as the city driver. The latter wants high power and speed; the former, suitability to his varied needs. If he wishes to drive through an alfalfa field, he wants his machine to do it.

All classes must be convinced by the dealer. The question of utility enters into the argument more than any other. "Can I use the car for anything practical?" asks the prospective buyer. Few farmers have yet reached the point where they are willing to make the investment demanded for pleasure. The dealer tells him he can also use it for business.

This many farmers do. Every morning when roads and weather are suitable—and the price is right—have much good weather and possibilities for general good roads—one Western stockman leads a half-dozen cows of cream on the rear of his motor car and carries the product six miles to market.

"It takes me about forty minutes when everything is favorable," said he. "With team, it would require two hours." He also occasionally carries hogs and poultry in crates.

"I have used my car for a great deal of small marketing during the past fall," explained one farmer. "I live about twelve miles from town and we had a great many fine apples which we marketed as they ripened. I could take three or four sacks at a time in the car and go to town with them in short time. Altogether I took over one hundred bushels of apples that way. Of course, we take nearly all our cream, butter and eggs to market in the car, because that is our way of going to town in good weather, and it has saved me money, because the fruit and other products were sold when fresh, and so at a higher price."

Other farmers use their cars to make trips over the farm, taking with them the supplies needed to repair a fence, to improve a gateway or to assist a laborer. The fact that the modern, low-priced automobile can be made a machine-of-all-work is its chief recommendation to the farm owner. He wants something he can use, and he is willing to pay for it. This is the dealer's most potent argument—that the modern car will do all these things.

In one Western county of ten thousand population are nearly one hundred cars owned on farms. A politician was making the race for a state office and his manager booked him for a speech in a rural district.

"I'll just get a motor car and run out to that schoolhouse," he said to his political advisers.

"Not for the world," they cried. "Why, that would never do. You go out there in a motor car, and they will think you're a plutocrat and plutocrat and slaughter you at the polls."

The office-worker gave up the plan and drove out to the schoolhouse in a buggy. A score of motor cars "thunked" past him on the road, containing farmers and their families on their way to the political meeting. Another dozen stood in the vicinity of the schoolhouse. When the politician drove up in his buggy the ruralists stared as if he were behind the times.

The next time he spoke at a country meeting this man drove out in a motor.

Why the Farmer Won the Race.

A silver cup was offered as a prize in a two-day endurance run arranged by the automobile club of a county-seat town of Kansas last November. On the day of the start a farmer drove in with his car and asked if he might enter. His car was less expensive

The G. A. Wahlgren Trophy for Touring Cars in the Flag Endurance and Reliability Contest.

The holding of the flag to flag endurance and reliability contest from Denver to the City of Mexico under A. A. sanction and rules is now an assured fact. The rules, which are practically identical with those governing the competition for the Golden Flower and Detroit trophies, have been issued. The date of the start from Denver has been fixed for Monday, October 25, and the contestants will arrive at the Paseo de Reforma in the federal district of Mexico the week of November 15. The route will be from Denver by way of Trinidad, Colo.; Amarillo, and San Antonio, Texas, crossing the border at Eagle Pass in the state of El Paso, as was originally planned, and touching in Mexico the city of Zacatecas, Aguas Calientes, Colima, San Juan del Rio, Tula and the City of Mexico. At the end of the tour the competing cars will be exhibited at a monster automobile show in Mexico city.

Additional interest is lent to the contest through the fact that the government of Mexico, which is using foreign cars almost exclusively, is in the market for 250 cars for the mail service and for 60 trucks for the military department, deliveries to be made within the next two years. Upon the showing of the American cars will depend to a large extent the sending of this contract to Europe or to the United States. Entries close with G. A. Wahlgren, Denver, on October 15, with reduced fee for entry before September 15 and 30. The Wahlgren trophy is for touring cars and another cup will be offered for runabouts.

than many in the list, but the cautious, gray-headed owner knew all its points. He dropped well to the rear of the long procession and the smart townsmen smiled at his presumption. Along in the afternoon there came, on a horse-drawn carriage, punctuated by carefree driving and delays from loosened parts. But the farmer, taking his time, avoiding ruts and pursuing a steady, even course in such control on time and with his "running smoothly. That night the city folks had a dance. The farmer went early to bed. In the morning he was fresh and contented; the townsmen were tired and nervous. When the race ended the farmer had the only perfect score of the thirty-two entries and proudly carried the cup to his home two miles in the county, where it stands on the center-table beside the family Bible.

A Larger Life.

The family of the farmer who owns a car enjoys more pleasure, sees more attractions of town, and gets more out of life. At the Sunday afternoon gathering at the country church, at the country wedding, at the public auction—everything, except at funerals—are motor cars standing among the wagons and buggies, showing how multiplied to the wife and children is their use.

The farmer likes to buy goods in the big town, but for years he has been buying at the little country store because it took too much time to make the trip to the county-seat. The country-seat merchants have suffered. They have even their formerly wide trade diminished by the small stores' increase.

The farmer's automobile will go far to bring it back through the widening of the farmer's field of travel. He can make the trip in two hours when formerly it required practically a whole day—and he will do it. He will go home with the car loaded with bundles and boxes, while the merchant has added a new customer.

The purchase of automobiles by the farmers has only begun. If we exclude the dweller in the little country village who figures frequently in the lists of farmers and confine the enumeration to those who really keep a car at a distance from town, the field is scarcely touched. That it has progressed so greatly in the past twenty months is indication of what is to come—for the farmer is more alive to the utility of the motor car than ever and with his liberal buyer during the coming years.

The farmer seized quickly on the telephone and made it his own. He has put into his house bathtubs, lighting plants, pianos and phonographs. He has awakened to good roads and is wedded to the real rural delivery. His horses have, for the most part, become so accustomed to motor cars that accidents are rare. As he sees seventeen-year-old boys and girls acting as chauffeurs, he has made up his mind that he is entitled to his share of the enjoyment.—Saturday Evening Post.

MARVELLOUS GROWTH OF AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

Makes Great Advance in America.

Twelve years ago, when the Dingley tariff bill was adopted, the automobile was such an insignificant commodity that it was tucked away in the schedule of "manufactured metal." It was not important enough for a separate classification.

Even ten years ago, an automobile was a good deal of a curiosity in the United States. There were not more than twelve hundred in use in the entire country and only about twice as many in Europe. As you read this, probably not less than a hundred thousand chauffeurs are in the act of starting or stopping their machines on American streets and roads, and hundreds of dignified men—who perhaps shied at the very word "automobile" a decade ago—are on their knees or backs curing tire troubles or struggling with recalcitrant gears, carburetors, and sparking-plugs.

The latest statistics report two hundred and fifty thousand automobiles in use in the United States. Allowing an average of four persons to each machine, there is an army of a million people moving around on pneumatic wheels. Where it took the first public automobile-parade not more than ten minutes to pass a given point, ten years ago, the cars owned today in the state of New York alone would take from sunrise to sunset to do it, going constantly at eight miles an hour; for there are eighty thousand of them.

In 1895 there were only five concerns in the United States with the tenacity to attempt the manufacture of self-propelled vehicles. Their output for that year was seventy cars, representing a value of one hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars. One company alone will make thirty thousand cars next year, another twenty thousand, a third twelve thousand, and two others ten thousand each. The total output of the American manufacturers for 1910 is estimated at two hundred thousand machines. In dollars, the value of that product, if the manufacturers' plans are realized, will be between two hundred and twenty-five millions and two hundred and fifty millions.

When one takes a bird's-eye view of the progress of the automobile industry during the past decade, he is put to it for an adjective big enough to express his comprehension of the wonderful picture. It is as if Mark had been at work with "brushes of comet's hair."

In the Days of the Pioneers.

In the late nineties, capital was skeptical about motorcars, and inventive genius had barely enough money to put its dream into working models. There were prophets, but for the most part they were penniless and without honor. John Brisson Walker was one of the prophets, and he backed his vision of the new vehicle's future with purse and pen. He moved his publishing-business from New York to Irvington, established a small automobile-factory there, and persistently preached that the day of the fulfillment of Mother Shipton's famous prophecy was at hand. Being a prophet, he was, of course, ahead of his time.

With the Dingley tariff assessing a duty of forty-five per cent ad valorem on "manufactured metal," and with a charge of about five per cent for freight against importers, capital looked at his purse-strings to the American manufacturers. The year 1898 saw twenty-five companies, capitalized at two million dollars, in active business. The following year the number had risen to thirty, which produced cars, worth nearly thirteen hundred thousand dollars. These figures seem mean and paltry in the light of what has since come to pass. Today there are two hundred and seventy-five busy concerns, with a capitalization of three hundred millions, including all the essential kindred branches of automobile-manufacturing.

Estimates of the output for 1910 are given by Mr. Alfred Reeves, from figures furnished him in June last, following a month's tour of the manufacturing centers. The estimated output includes one hundred and sixty-five thousand pleasure-cars, thirty thousand high-wheel buggies made by carriage concerns, and five thousand steam and electric carriages and commercial vehicles.

A Great Factor in Modern Progress.

Undoubtedly, when the historians of the future shall come to weigh these things, they will have to count the automobile among the big determining factors of the twentieth century. It would take volumes even to review the effects the self-propelled vehicle has wrought already in the social and economical scheme of the world.

If, through the conduct of careless or reckless persons, the automobile has been made to stand in the imagination of thousands as a life-destroying juggernaut, behold it in the light of a life-saver, carrying physician or surgeon to patients whose needs are urgent. It has been well said that if the automobile had done nothing else than furnish the medical profession with a means of quick transportation, it would still be great. The farmer may now say with the city dweller: "My doctor lives just around the corner."

With a combination of the automobile and the telephone the wilderness "The automobile is the moving cause of the good-roads campaign which is sweeping the United States."

With such an outlook as the coming year presents—an automobile for every two hundred of our adult population—manufacturers are interested more than ever in seeing a law enacted which will place cars under a Federal license, enabling them to tour at will from State to State, subject only to local speed restrictions. Such a law failed of enactment last year only because of an error in the drafting of the necessary bill.

So far as speed records are concerned many of those standing today will be part of the past before the year ends. A three-hundred-thousand-dollar speedway is under construction at Indianapolis. The grounds are a mile long and half a mile wide. The course is to be two and one-half miles long, with the banks on the curves twelve feet high, and the radius so easy that it will not be necessary to reduce speed. Eleven years ago it took two minutes to cover a mile. The distance has been done since in one-fifth of that time; and it may not be long before we shall see three miles covered within a single minute by one of the space-devouring marvels of today.—Munsey's Magazine.

Chicago Motor Club Owners Will Test Cars On Hills Of This State.

Plans for this annual 1,000 mile reliability run are being completed by the Chicago Automobile Club.

The Motor club's run this year will be more extensive and elaborate than ever before and takes on the guise of a Golden tour because of the fact that the tour will cover four states in its four days' cruising. Each day's journey will be about 250 miles and will carry the motorists through Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Indiana.

Second Day in Wisconsin.

Dates selected for the affair are Oct. 12, 13, 14 and 15. The second day of the run will start from Platteville, Wis., and pass through Madison and Milwaukee and continue on back to Chicago.

It is pointed out that Wisconsin furnishes such a choice lot of road hills that the cars will be called upon for strenuous tests that could not be found in any other territory.

The run will find itself in Indiana the third day and return to Chicago from Indianapolis via South Bend on the fourth day.

Why Did He Do It?

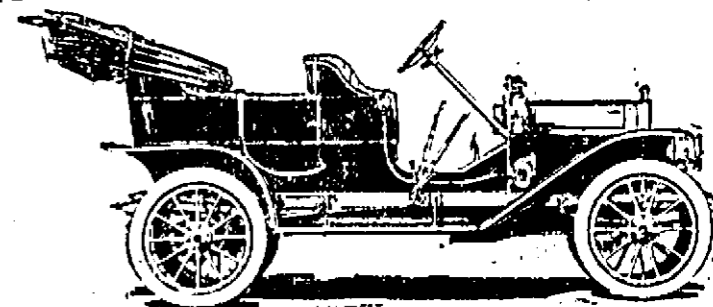

One of the guests at a seaside boarding house had picked up a curiously-shaped stone on the seashore that looked exactly like a half-eaten crust of bread. It was being passed round the room and the finder was evidently feeling pleased with himself at having found something really unique. Every one who saw it exclaimed how like a crust of bread it really was. At last reached the quiet man in the corner, and the finder went up to him to get his opinion. "Yes," said the quiet man, "it is a striking resemblance. Didn't you think it was a crust of bread when you saw it on the sands?" "Yes," replied the proud finder, "I was completely taken in with it." "Then what on earth did you pick it up for?"

The Bus Eighty Years Old.

The London omnibus is now eighty years old. It was on July 4, 1829, that George Shillibeer, after being successfully a middleman in the British navy and a coach builder in Paris, placed on the London streets the first two omnibuses ever seen in England. A large crowd assembled to witness the start and general admiration was expressed at the smart appearance of the vehicles, which were built to carry 22 passengers, all inside, and were drawn by three beautiful bays, harnessed abreast. The word "omnibus" was painted in large letters on both sides of the vehicles. The fare from the Yorkshire Rings to the bank was one shilling; half way, six pence. Newspapers and magazines were provided free of charge.

Old Scottish Words.

A correspondent of the Glasgow Herald submits the following samples of old Scotch words from East Aberdeenshire: "Mowse"—To say anything is one mowse means it is uncanny or dangerous. "Connached."—Spoiled; clean connached would mean utterly destroyed or rendered useless. "Bluid."—To bluid anything would mean to soil it. A child would be told, "Dinna bluid your clean pina." "Gardies" or "Gardies."—A child's foreman. The last is a very old expression, but I have heard it used. "Sle bonnie gardies ho has," means the baby has plump arms.

IS JANESVILLE TO HAVE NEW CRUSADE?

Rumored That Automobile Drivers Are to Be Closely Watched in the Future.

If reports be true, radical action is to be taken in the manner in which automobiles are driven through the streets of the city. It is learned that Chief of Police Appleby will enforce the state law which prohibits the running of a machine within the city limits faster than twelve miles an hour. As there is hardly a machine in the city that does not go fifteen miles, and even faster, it is expected that if the crusade starts, some prominent people will be haled into court to pay a fine for their fast driving. When asked regarding the matter this afternoon the chief said: "The law is very plain in this matter and states clearly what the automobile people may do and what they may not. I would not be surprised if some of the reckless drivers did land in court, but am not prepared to call it a crusade. However, I will state the law will be enforced and I trust to break up this fast driving within the city limits." It is also learned that the Janesville Automobile club will hold a meeting Friday evening to discuss the matter.

CENTER.

Center, Sept. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Noyes of Janesville visited at W. B. Poynter's the first of the week. They will depart for California the first of the month where they will spend the winter.

Miss Edna Schroeder of Janesville was a guest at the home of Emily Barlow over Sunday and attended the party at the Misses Crall's on Saturday afternoon.

Watkin Davis is very poorly at this writing. His daughter, Mrs. E. Dunbar, is helping care for him.

Chas. Fuller and wife were Center visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Brown and mother, Mrs. Savage, called at Fred Fuller's Sunday afternoon.

One hundred and fifty soldiers on horseback, from Camp Douglas, passed through here Monday.

On last Monday evening the Misses Bernice and Hazel Douglas, and Bernice Bemis were visitors with Miss Vera Fuller.

J. H. Fisher seems to be doing as well as can be expected after the severe accident he met with on last Friday.

Friends of Miss Ella Britt of North Center are sorry to know that her condition is such that it was advisable to take her to a sanitarium at Madison for treatment.

Jay Fuller and sister spent Sunday afternoon with Porter friends.

Mrs. Chas. Crall entertained the Crofts and Reed ladies Thursday afternoon. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edson Brown of West Center.

The Silverthorn auction was very well attended and everything sold well.

Members of St. Mary's Court No. 176, W. C. O. T., are requested to meet this evening in their hall at 7:30 to make arrangements to attend the funeral of our late sister, Mary Vouburg. Mary Morris, C. R.

This Issue Assembles a Group of Advertising Directed Especially to the Men Readers of The Gazette

It is a display of representative lines handled by local dealers who cater to the various needs of men.

Among the announcements will be found style hints, news of late arrivals, comfort suggestions, useful aids and information of utilities and luxuries.

A study of these announcements will give you just the knowledge of "goods" that you have been striving for in all of your buying. You will find pleasure in reading them. It will help you to make selections that best suit your taste and your purse.

There are dozens of dealers advertising just such articles at all times, who guarantee and maintain a rigid standard of style and quality.

They are compelled to maintain it, because their goods are backed by their names, and the future—indeed the very life—of their business depends upon satisfying you.

In buying these advertised goods in preference to those which are without recognized reputation to maintain, you simply serve your own best interests. You are absolutely sure of correct style, unvarying quality and longest service.

It is advertising that has brought about these conditions. It is advertising that is tending to standardize all goods, and while progressive manufacturers and dealers benefit largely by it, it is you, the consumer, who receives the most benefit.

And therefore, we suggest: why should you not form the habit of reading the men's advertising regularly? You will constantly find new suggestions that appeal to your desire which you would otherwise miss.

The Evening Chit-Chat

WRITE against school girl crushes," someone urged me the other day.

"How can I?" I answered, "when I approve of them?"

There is nothing so good for anyone as to love someone else better than himself. The more people you love better than yourself in the course of your life the more worth loving that sort of yours will probably be.

The affection that exists in object, as the school girl crush does, humbles itself. And it doesn't hurt most people to humble themselves.

So when your girl goes to school or college next fall and comes back brimming over with prizes of some wonderful classmate or teacher don't laugh at her or discourage her. She may do and say some silly things but underneath the crust of her excesses, the feeling that aways her is itself a beautiful thing. She is feeling

"All the sweet and sudden passion of youth towards greatness in its elder."

There is just one evil in school girl crushes that I do want to level against.

I don't mind the extravagance of speech that "worships the ground she walks on" as once I heard a young girl declare of a beloved teacher. That's merely funny.

I love the eagerness to please that makes the girl with the crush deny herself to send violets or candy to its object. That, however childish its manifestation, is a very healthy feeling.

But I am sorry for the foolishness which makes the young devotees slavishly copy the little eccentricities of her idol instead of trying to imitate her admirable qualities.

At Vassar college last year was a very remarkable girl. She was brilliant, beautiful and good—all in a striking way—and half the freshmen class were in love with her.

Like most college girls she had eccentricities. She seldom wore anything on her feet but tennis shoes; dressed a great deal in lavender and said "bean" and "wore" in the true English way for "bean" and "were."

Inevitably her following promptly took to tennis shoes, dressed itself in lavender and affected an English pronunciation. And there was so much about that girl they might better have copied.

I think it is a splendid thing to extravagantly admire anyone—a sort of tonic for the soul.

I am sorry for those who never feel the "sweet and sudden passion," who never have the beautiful illusion of thinking that they see all the virtues and charms in the world united in one person, who never experience this lovely ecstasy love.

But I think that those who do feel it, would do the object of their admiration and themselves for greater honor if they tried to be as fine and admirable as they think her, instead of merely aping her eccentricities.

WERE MARRIED AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Wedding of Miss Alma Weber and Arthur Rathjen Took Place Last Evening—Costello-Kriffin Nuptials.

St. John's church was decorated with clusters of flowers and ferns, bound with white ribbon, last evening for the wedding of Miss Alma Weber and Arthur Rathjen, and the ceremony took place under an arch of greenery at eight o'clock, the Rev. S. W. Fuchs officiating. The Misses Della Weber and Emma Knepplein attended the bride and Richard Lightfoot and William Zorbel stood up with the groom. Miss Alice Strampe played the wedding march and George Hieslo, Emil Podowski, and Ernest Strampe acted as ushers. The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Dobor, 620 Fifth avenue. The choir sang several selections during the course of the evening and an elaborate wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Rathjen departed this morning on their honeymoon trip, Costello-Kriffin.

The wedding of Miss Mary Costello and Henry F. Kressin was solemnized by Dean E. E. Kelly at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Miss Margaret Costello was bridesmaid and Frank E. Zimmerman attended the groom. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kressin received congratulations at the home of the bride's family, 511 South Franklin street, and the wedding supper was served. The happy couple took their departure last evening.

Lower Down on the List. Having just had her child baptized in church she waited in the vestry till service was over to have the registrar's certificate indorsed in the usual manner. "The year, not being sure of the date, remarked in an interrogative tone, "This is the twentieth, I think." "Indeed, no, sir," replied the worthy matron indignantly, "she's only the sixteenth, the wee lamb."

School Frocks of Diagonal

In the above sketch appears a pretty little school frock of dark blue diagonal. In this dress the bill front reaches nearly to the neck, where it appears to button over the side bodice. The sleeve caps also close with the cloth button and loops, as does the plain belt. The skirt is plain as to trimming, and fitted. Beneath this dress may be worn a glimpse of blue tulle or one of white lawn, as the weather permits. The belt, bill and sleeve caps are piped with blue tulle, which gives a neat and pretty finish.

ROCK RIVER CONFERENCE IS ON.

Methodists Are in Session at Rockford—Bishop Goodsell Presides.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 29.—The seventh session of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is in full swing today in the Court Street church, and for a week the delegates will be very busy, with meetings morning, afternoon and evening. Bishop Goodsell of New York is the presiding officer. At a meeting last night the delegates were formally welcomed to Rockford and spent an hour in social intercourse.

This morning's session was given up mainly to routine business and the presentation of memorials. In the afternoon there was an interesting address by Rev. George B. Smith on "The Missionary Crisis in Africa," after which Bishop Vincent spoke on "A Secret of Pulpit Power." Tonight the Methodist Brotherhood meeting will be addressed by Bishop McDowell and Harford Crawford.

The annual missionary sermon will be delivered to-morrow afternoon by Rev. A. H. Haskins; Friday the Laymen's association and the women's missionary organizations will meet; Saturday will be devoted to hospital, deaconesses' and freedmen's aid work.

Ganker Sued for Breach of Promise.

Dolph, Ind., Sept. 29.—James Coplen, president of the Farmers' and Traders' bank of Ellettsburg and one of the wealthiest residents of Carroll county, has been sued for breach of promise by Miss Emma Sinks, who asks $15,000 damages. The suit is the outcome of Coplen's marriage on September 19 to Miss Laurel Stevenson, who was employed as a clerk in his bank. This was Coplen's third matrimonial venture.

Boy Lives Without a Stomach.

New York, Sept. 29.—William Smith, who had his stomach removed three weeks ago in the Bushwick hospital, Brooklyn, has left that institution thoroughly cured, the doctors say. There is now no reason why Smith cannot live for the balance of his natural life, according to the surgeons, and his only handicap will be that he must eat nothing but predigested foods.

U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO RAID WHITE SLAVERS

Reported That Chicago Has "Clearing House" for Importation of Alien Women into United States.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—United States District Attorney Edwin Sims has unearthed evidence that white slave traffickers are again operating on a large scale in Chicago and a series of raids and prosecutions will without doubt soon be inaugurated.

The district attorney has had 20 secret service operatives searching for evidence. Their reports are that a "clearing house" for the importation of alien women into the United States is in operation in Chicago.

Mr. Sims declined to discuss the location of this "clearing house," but from other sources it is learned that it is believed to be in the district south of South Chicago, where foreign women have been quartered before.

Aids of the district attorney say that the white slave importers have taken courage because there have been no recent prosecutions by the federal authorities, and that they hoped the war was to be dropped. Mr. Sims, however, declares that he has never had any idea of easing up in his relentless war against the illegal traffic.

Chicago is the headquarters, according to the federal authorities, for a system of traffic in foreign women that extends over the entire country. For several years, they say, it has been the central distributing point for young women and girls, many of whom have been lured from European homes by promises of high pay and easy work in the United States.

This Will Stop Your Rheumatism

A Remarkable Electric Device That Positively Has Relieved Countless People Of The Pains And Causes of Rheumatism.

Throw away your pills, powders and other medicines. Here is a treatment that will make you rub your eyes and wonder. It is not a miracle, but it is a fact—and more. It has been proven a tremendous success. Men and women formerly crippled with rheumatism report themselves now hopping around like boys and girls, as a result of using this simple and wonderful device, called Electropoles.

Electropoles produce a wireless, unobtrusive, yet powerfully effective current which passes through the entire body, through every muscle, nerve, fibre, vital organ and blood vessel. It is the new way of using electricity, purifying the blood, regulating the functions, and turning the nerves almost into "bundles of steel."

If it proves that electricity is not only life, but health and vigor in all its glory, Electropoles will positively stop your rheumatism, back, kidney trouble, weak nerves, nervous prostration, stomach and liver troubles, insomnia, and heart trouble.

Electropoles are different from any other electric device in that they produce a current only while in actual use. They are mental impulses so placed in the body as to be unobtrusive to the wearer.

To prove these statements are true, try one of these "little" devices in your home. You will find that it is a fact—and more. It has been proven a tremendous success. Men and women formerly crippled with rheumatism report themselves now hopping around like boys and girls, as a result of using this simple and wonderful device, called Electropoles.

Write to the Electro-Poles Co., 3010 N. Holland Street, Lima, Ohio, and you will get a full booklet with the device's complete instructions, and you will be able to satisfy you completely within 30 days or over or positively refund your money. Say whether for lady or gentleman.

Talks on Snake Culture

No. 17—What is Whiskey?

The government has recently been having a good deal of trouble finding an answer to this important question.

drugs, which is more embarrassing than the average meeting word contest. The next time you meet the government, back it into a corner, and tell it what whiskey is, and end the suspense. Whiskey has a family resemblance to red ink, but is not so wholesome; men take it to warm them when they are cold, and to cool them when they are hot; if they are sick they take it as a medicine, and if they are well they take it as a preventive; they take it for one thing or another until it has its feelings, and then it takes them. Whiskey has such an unpleasant taste that most men who drink it have to wash it down with something that saves them a lot of trouble; and when one does it is down, and fairly anchored, it protests against the hermit life, and insists upon having company; and when a second drink is sent down, the two insist upon a third as referee, and the three of them clamor for a mass meeting, and so it goes until the man who harbors them is loaded into a wagon with red lamps on it, and hauled away to the police court, and deprived of ten times for carrying around a headache that violates the ordinances against pyrotechnic displays. Most any old wife-beater can tell Uncle Sam what whiskey is.

FLUFF RUGS

Manufactured From Your Worn-Out Cotton or Wool Ingrain or Body Brussel Carpets or Chenille Curtains

Carpets that were formerly sold for old rags at 1/2 cent per pound can now be made into beautiful and serviceable rugs.

The Fluff Rug is a thick, soft rug, easy on the feet and makes walking noiseless. They make an ideal dining room or bed room rug. The rugs are all hand-woven, will wear twice as long as the ordinary ingrain carpet and cost less than a very cheap one. Made in any size up to 12 feet wide and any length desired—plain, striped, bordered or in fancy design.

If you are not familiar with the Fluff Rugs, call and let us show you some we have in stock.

If you should lack part of material for size rug desired, we can furnish balance from 6c to 8c per pound.

OUT OF TOWN PEOPLE should pack their goods securely in a bundle or box and send by freight. We pay freight one way.

THE NEW DIAMOND EDGE ROLLER GUARD SAFETY RAZOR

It will give you a smooth, clean shave and do it quicker and with more comfort than any other Safety Razor.

The Roller Guard of the Diamond Edge is the only new idea in razor guards since the Safety has been on the market.

This razor, as its name implies, is made with a ROLLER GUARD, not the old-fashioned skin or hoe guard. The new guard rolls over the skin easily, without any pull or drag, giving a clean shave wherever drawn.

The complete set with twelve blades, silver-plated stepping handle, all packed in a velvet lined all leather case, will cost you but $3.50.

"If I have no answer to that by tomorrow afternoon I shall accept Mrs. Van Torp's invitation."

"I hope you will go," Lady Maud said with sudden decision, "for if you do, I can go with you, and I'm dying to see the new yacht!"

Margaret looked at her in surprise, for it was only a little while since she had seemed much less ready to join the party, and only willing to do so, if at all, in order to please her friend.

"Yes," she said, as if in explanation, "I've been thinking it over in the last few minutes, and I want very much to go with you all. I shall be back in less than an hour."

"An hour?"

"Half an hour. I want a good walk."

Straight and tall in her mourning, Lady Maud went down the stairs of the hotel. As she was going out the hall porter raised his cap, and she stopped a moment and asked him which was the nearest way to the telegraph office. He stood on the doorstep and pointed in the direction she was to follow as he answered her question.

"Can you tell me," she asked, "whose motor car it was that passed about ten minutes ago, and made so much noise?"

"Count Kralinsky's, my lady," the porter answered, for he spoke good English, and had the true hotel porter's respect for the British aristocracy abroad.

"He was the gentleman with the big fair beard, I suppose? Yes, thank you."

She went out into the dull street, with its monotonous houses, all two stories high, and she soon found the telegraph office and sent Margaret a duplicate message. She had not glanced at it, but the clerk asked her questions about words that were not quite clearly written, and she was obliged to read it through. It occurred to her that it was couched in extremely peremptory terms, even for an offended bride-elect; but that was none of her business.

She resumed her walk, not knowing whether and not caring, always at the same even pace, and hardly noticing the people who passed her, of whom a good many wore in two-horse cabs, some in queer little Gurney motors, and a few on foot; and she thought, and wondered, and tried to understand, but could not. At all events, she was glad to be alone; she was glad not to have even Van Torp with her, and she was quite indifferent to the fact that time was passing, and that Margaret was beginning to wonder where in the world she was.

"My dear child," Mrs. Rushmore said, when the prima donna expressed her surprise, "those English people are all alike, when they are once out on a round by themselves. They must take a long walk. They never know when to stop walking. I cannot understand what they can see in it. Perhaps you will kindly touch the bell."

a better man. It was quite instantaneous, I recollect. His head disappeared suddenly, and the greater part of him was scattered around, but they found his pocket-book with his cards and things, so they knew who it was. It was driven through somebody else's hat on the other side of the street, wasn't it, Miss Donne? Things must have been quite lively just then, where it happened. I supposed you knew."

Mrs. Rushmore explained that she had never heard any details.

"Besides," said Mr. Van Torp, in answer, though not quite relevantly, "everybody always calls her 'Lady Maud' instead of 'Countess Leven,' which she has on her cards."

"She would naturally use the higher title," observed Mrs. Rushmore reverently.

"Well, now, about that," objected Mr. Van Torp. "I'm bound to say I think the daughter of an English earl as good as a Russian count, anywhere west of Siberia. I don't know how they figure those things out at courts when they have to balance 'em up for seats at a dinner party, of course. It's just my impression, that's all, as a business man. He's dead, anyway, and one doesn't make personal remarks about dead men. All the same, it was a happy release for Lady Maud, and I doubt if she sits up all night mourning for him. Have you been out this afternoon, Miss Donne?"

He changed the subject with extreme directness, and Mrs. Rushmore, who was used to the dictatorial ways of hosts, took the hint submissively enough, though she would have been glad to discuss the relative and intrinsic values of the designations "Lady Maud" and "Countess Leven."

But it was much more important that the host should be left alone with Margaret as much as possible, and the excellent lady therefore remembered that she had something to do and left them.

"I had a little talk with Kralinsky before he left," said Van Torp, when she was gone. "He says he'll meet us in Venice any time in the next few days. He's just going to run over to Vienna in his sudden-death-car for 24 hours; then he'll go south, he says. He ran me up to the hotel and dropped me. I dare say you heard the toots. I thought I saw Lady Maud looking out of the window of your room as I got out."

"Yes," Margaret said. "But how do you know that is my window?"

"In the first place, I've counted the windows. I felt a sort of interest in knowing which was yours. And then, I often see your maid opening the shutters in the morning."

"Oh!" Margaret smiled. "Did you notice anything unusual about Lady Maud when you saw her?" she asked, for she knew that he had good eyes.

"Since you mention it, I thought she looked as if she didn't feel quite up to the mark—pale, I thought she was."

"Yes," Margaret said. "She felt ill for a moment, and I thought she was going to faint. But it passed almost directly, and she insisted on going for a walk."

"Oh," mused Mr. Van Torp. "Is that so? Well, I dare say it was the best thing she could do. I was telling you about Kralinsky. He's not Lev Longlegs after all, and I'm not sure he was ever in the west."

"I thought it sounded unlikely," Margaret said.

They Didn't Have to Change.

During the years in which our pure food laws have been put into effect there has been a great hurrying and scurrying on the part of the food manufacturers to change their methods to make them conform to the law.

The Quaker Oats Company is a conspicuous exception. It was admitted that Quaker Oats was as pure and clean as possible and that it was an ideal food.

It is so cheap that any one can afford it and so nourishing that everyone needs it. The result of last year's experiments at Yale and other points where food values were tested is that Quaker Oats has been selected by many persons as their food on which they rely for adding vigor and endurance of muscle and brain.

The Quaker Oats Company meets all demands in the way it packs Quaker Oats; regular size packages and the large size family package; the latter, both with and without china.

Here's New Way to Decorate Your Home

You can make your home attractive at very little cost if you'll follow the example set by numbers of women in this city. You can make it bright, so that it will have always a clean, fresh, sweet look.

By laying new linoleum on your floors and then giving it a coating of Linoleum Lustre, which will keep the floor covering fresh for years, preserving the coloring and pattern and increasing the wearing qualities so that it will last indefinitely, your home will always have a fastidious appearance.

If the linoleum or oil-cloth now on your floor is faded and worn in spots and is filthy and coloring fast, Linoleum Lustre will restore its original freshness and make it wear ten times as long.

It is not like varnish. Not sticky. Does not crack. Does easily. A child can apply it. It dries over night.

UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP VERMONT AS SHE LOOKS TODAY WITH HER NEW FIGHTING TOPS

The Vermont is one of the 30 semi-going battleships of the United States navy. Its keel was laid in 1904 and it has a displacement of 16,000 tons. With 17,000 horsepower, the Vermont's speed is 18 knots an hour. Its cost was $1,170,000. In its main battery the Vermont has four 12-inch, eight-inch and twelve 7-inch breech-loading rifles. In the secondary battery it has 20 3-inch rapid fire guns, 12 3-pound semi-automatic guns, four 1-pound automatic, two 3-inch field pieces with eight smaller guns. The Vermont is 450 feet long, 76 feet and 10 inches at its extreme breadth, has a mean draught of 24 feet 6 inches, carries a normal coal supply of 300 tons with a bunker capacity of 2,200 tons. It has four 21-inch torpedo tubes. It is manned by 11 officers and 810 men.

Built at Quincy, Mass., launched August 31, 1905. She is a sister ship of the battleship Connecticut.
